

THEY WERE COLLEGE CHUMS; SHE CROSSES OCEAN TO WED

CHARLES F. LOOMIS

Miss Alice Richardson, Lurline Passenger, Married at Noon to C. F. Loomis

Miss Alice Richardson became Mrs. Charles F. Loomis at noon today at the residence of Paul Super, in Manoa Valley. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. A. Ebersole in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen, acting as god-parents, and the executive staff of the Y. M. C. A.

Two hours before the ceremony was performed Mrs. Loomis was Miss Richardson and, to the prospective bridegroom, seemed as far away as though she were still at the home of her parents in Kansas City, for at that time the quarantine flag still flapped lazily from the mast of the Lurline, and although Miss Richardson was near enough to her prospective husband to call out to him, he sat in the bow of the government launch, softly grumbling, for the officials wouldn't let him go aboard.

Finally, after the lapse of twelve interminable minutes, the flag came down and the future husband clambered up the ladder amidst a shower of rice from the passengers, who in the course of the trip had many times over heard the story how Miss Richardson and Loomis dissected salamanders together when they were freshmen at the University of Missouri, and so had prepared a noisy welcome for the groom-to-be.

After Loomis had brushed the rice from his hair and eyes, Captain Weedon stepped forward and presented a wedding cake to the pair, at the same time extending his congratulations, together with those of the passengers.

It was 11:10 when the boat docked at Heakfield wharf, and ten minutes later the bride party, consisting of Secretary Super, A. E. Larimer, A. T.

Who was Miss Alice Richardson until noon today.

Wisdom, A. A. Ebersole and Loomis' groom's bachelor friends gathered in and his fiancée, were on their way to Cooke Hall, at the Y. M. C. A., and Mr. Super's Manoa Valley residence. Participated in a banquet, at which yesterday evening twenty of the Loomis was the guest of honor.

Mr. Jack Lyall's Dinner Party.

Mr. Jack Lyall was host at an elaborate dinner on Saturday evening at the Moana Hotel. The affair was given in honor of Miss Edythe Clark and Mr. Gustav Bjorkman.

The table decorations were appropriate for the occasion; a large wedding bell hung from the chandelier and the table centerpiece was also of roses and ferns. Covers were laid for ten, including Miss Edythe Clark, Miss Mac Johnson, Miss Mary Clark, Miss Armour, Mr. Gustav Bjorkman, Mr. Harvey Clark, Mr. Jones, Mr. Percy Deverill, Mr. Schenkel and Mr. Jack Lyall.

Miss Hazel Buckland's Card Party.

On Monday afternoon Miss Hazel Buckland entertained at cards for Miss Ray Bell, who is soon to become the bride of Ensign Paul Marshall, U. S. S. California. The prizes were a silver picture frame and a pair of silk stockings, and were given to Miss Rose Herbert and Miss Doris Hutchins. Miss Lucy Dimond was given the consolation, a picture. At the close of the afternoon the guest of honor was surprised with a shower of bouillabaisse. The guests included Miss Ray Bell, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Helen Spaulding, Miss Lucy Dimond, Miss Martha McClesney, Miss Doris Hutchins, Miss Myrtle Schuman, Miss Edna Curtis, Mrs. Jack Young, Miss Orpha Starratt, Miss Dorothy Wood, Miss Marian Chapin, Miss Mary Lucas, Miss Blanche Soper, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Fanny Hoogs, Miss Alice Hoogs, and Miss Vivian Buckland.

Hammock Novels.

Jacquetta Stories, by Fannie Heaslip Lea, whose short novel, "Quick-sands," gave promise of riper accomplishments, is a volume of sketchy little romances woven about a delightfully impossible Southern girl, one of those professional heart-breakers at whose hands so many Southerners accept death without a murmur. Of course such a girl as Jacquetta never was on land or sea. Those, however, who follow her fortunes through these clever pages care no whit for the question of her existence in time and space, but accept her for the rough person she is. Properly constituted women will disapprove of her, but she will obtain the suffrage of all men, and that is the object for which she was created.

Admiral Ross and Miss Ross were the complimented guests at a dinner given on Sunday evening by Captain and Mrs. Case at the Courtland. The color scheme for the decorations was yellow, a large basket tied with yellow tulle and filled with the drooping golden shower formed the attractive centerpiece. The cards marking the place of each guest were hand-painted yellow butterflies. Covers were laid for Admiral Ross, Miss Ross, General and Mrs. M. M. Macomb, Major and Mrs. Cheatham, Mr. and Mrs. John Gamble, Captain and Mrs. Game, Mr. Denman, Miss Dostrom, Miss Case, Mr. Carothers, Mr. Dostrom and Captain and Mrs. Case.

Mrs. S. G. Wilder's Luncheon.

Mrs. Samuel Wilder was hostess at an informal luncheon on Friday at her home on Nuuanu avenue. Covers were laid for six including Miss Elizabeth Carter, Miss Nora Swamy, Miss Rosamond Swamy, Miss Hilda von Holt, Miss Mary von Holt and Mrs. Wilder.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Knudsen's House Party.

One of the most delightful of the summer entertainments is the house party at which Mrs. Eric Knudsen is hostess. The guests left in the Kinau yesterday for the Knudsen home on Kanae, where they will spend a fortnight. Some among those invited: Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Marian Haviland, Miss Clair Kelley, Miss Mary von Holt, Miss Ethel Gay, Mr. Alan Lowrey, Mr. Ed. Watson, Mr. Paul Hollister, Mr. Stevenson, Lieutenant Andrews, Lieutenant Salm, Mr. Dixon Nott and Mr. Dare.

Miss Mary von Holt's Poi Supper.

Miss Mary von Holt was hostess at a poi supper at the Outrigger Club on Monday night in complement to her brother, Mr. Herman von Holt, and Mr. Danton Garstin and Mr. Woodruff. Covers were laid for fifty.

Mr. Montgomery of the Waialua Hotel gave a dance last night for the guests of the Hotel and their friends. The affair was in the nature of a house-warming and the hall was prettily decorated with flags, palms and ferns. About one hundred guests were present.

Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Cooke are giving a poi supper at the Outrigger Club tomorrow evening.

The following clipping from "Vogue" tells something about the novel by Fanny Heaslip Lea, who is better known in Honolulu as Mrs. H. P. Agee:

Miss Louise McCarthy has issued invitations for a dance to be given at her home on the seventh of August.
